LESS THAN SIX DAYS.

The City of Paris Beats the Record of the Etruria.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The City of Paris has beaten the record. This glorious thing that floats on the seas steamed up to Sandy Hook this morning at 8.15 with a record behind her of five days, 23 hours, seven minutes. She has left herself nothing to beat but herself, and she intends to do that.

Not only has she beaten the record for the the fastest trips, which was the Etruria's six days, one hour and 55 minutes, but on he fifth day she drove her nose into the gray old ocean and skimmed over more watery waste in 24 hours than ever anything with a keel has done since the world was made—511 miles.

This is the record of the daily flight over the bright blue: May 3, the first day, 445 miles; May 4, with a northwest wind, 492; May 5, again with a northwest wind, 504; May 6, with a west-northwest breeze, 505, and May 7, 511. Then a little spin of 398 miles, to the Hook.

She had a cabin list of 132 passengers, among whom were David Dudley Field, I. A. Maguire, the Argentine consul general to Canada, and Elliott Zborowsky and servant.

FROM NEW YORK TO YOKOHAMA.

President Hill Thinks the Trip Will Be Made in Two Weeks.

Erastus Wiman on Railroads and Reciprocity With Canada.

He Says Canada is Bound to England by Sentiment Above.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Before the Senate committee on interstate commerce, President James J. Hill, of the St. Paul, Minnesota & Manitoba railroad, described in detail the subsidies and government gifts of money and land to the Canadian Pacific road. He gave an account of the probable route of the future between Asia and Europe. The Canadian Pacific road, he said, had a fast line of steamers running from its western terminus to Asia and from its eastern terminus to Liverpool. "In eighteen months," said he, "I fully expect one can travel from New York to Yokohama in two weeks."

Erastus Wiman took the witness chair. "The construction of the Canadian railways," he said, "has done more to contribute to closer relationship between the East and West than anything else." Wiman spoke strongly in favor of commercial reciprocity and figured out how, in that event, Canadian territory would at once be built up by emigration from Europe and largely from the United States. This close interchange of ideas and peoples must eventually bring about one grand republic. According to Mr. Wiman, "the tie which binds Canada to England is but sentiment." He said that Canada must either become an independent republic or join with the United States.

President Charles Francis Adams of the Union Pacific thought the interstate commerce law in many cases was cruel. Those who obeyed it lost by its operation and those who evaded it profited.

"I should like, however," he said, "to see it universally obeyed and given a fair trial, and since January first I really believe the law has been better obeyed than ever before. I know for instance that large shippers who heretofore have practically dictated their own terms can do so no longer. I think the commission is doing good work and am glad to see they proceed cautiously."

Mr. Adams thought a common railroad law between Canada and the United States and a legalized pool would be a good thing.

"If you think the interstate law is a good thing then where does all the opposition come from?" asked Senator Blair.

"You must remember that the country has been built up on a system of distribution which the interstate law shakes to its foundation," replied Mr. Adams. "The long and short haul clause gives in effect to smaller cities many of the advantages heretofore exclusively enjoyed by larger cities and the consequence is that in a city like San Francisco opposition is very strong."

"Then it is a question of whether the smaller towns shall be enslaved by the larger ones, or the larger ones give up some of their prestige to them?" asked Senator Blair.

"Enslave is a strong word," said Mr. Adams, "but without question what is taken from one goes to another."

In conclusion the witness said that while nominally the president of the Union Pacific, he really knew but little of its practical working and referred the committee to members of the Union Pacific executive staff at Omaha.

THE RIGHT TO VOTE

As Regulated by White Men in Lafayette, Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—Four hundred armed men under Gen. Alexander Declouette of St. Martin's Parish, rode into Lafayette, yesterday morning, and took possession of the town. They demanded the resignation of the negro justice of the peace and the negro constable. The latter had disappeared, but the former complied with the demand.

The regulators, pretending to have heard that Mr. Vignaux, a prominent Republican, who had been suggested as United States marshal of the western district of Louisiana, had furnished arms to negroes, called on that gentleman, who is now town marshal of Lafayette. They discussed with him the matter of his having attempted to vote negroes at the election last Monday. They informed him their purpose was to prevent negroes from voting. Mr. Vignaux stated that he had no more anxiety than they had on the subject, and that he was at the polls Monday morning performing his sworn duty under the law. This statement being satisfactory, the regulators concluded to allow Mr. Vignaux to remain awhile longer on probabation so to speak. The regulators and authorities finally agreed that another election should be held next Monday forenoon for municipal officers of Lafayette, at which only white men shall vote.

As this election will not be legal the names of those receiving a majority of the votes cast will be sent to the governor for appointment.

Mr. Smith, while on a Southern trip some time ago, heard reports of wonderful deposits of iron ore in these hills and investigated. Others heard the same reports and a company was at once formed. Of the $500,000 capital stock paid in probably $150,000 is Maine capital, among the stockholders being J. W. Hopkins of Hampden, F. H. C. Reynolds of Bangor, County Commissioner John L. Swift, W. M. Pennell and Captain Skofield of Brunswick, D. A. Booker of Brunswick, Messrs. Schofield of Harpswell, Samuel Sylvester of Lisbon Falls, J. H. Escott of Lisbon Falls and J. C. Scates of Saccarappa.

Professor Robinson of Bowdoin has visited Bluffton and made a favorable report on its resources.

Thieves in Calais.

CALAIS, May 8.—Professional sneak thieves who have been operating in Calais yesterday, entered the residence of Henry Herald and and stole quite a sum of money. At the residence of George Savory they got two watches. They then crossed the line into St. Stephen and entered a number of residences there, at each place taking valuable articles.

A Road in Good Condition.

CANTON, May 8.—On Tuesday the railroad commissioners made their semi-annual examination of the Rumford Falls & Buckfield railroad, going over this road in a special train. They found the track much better than is usual at the spring examination, and all the bridges in first-class condition. The commissioners were much pleased with the good condition of the road.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Shall Canadian Built Cars be Subject to Duty?

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Secretary Windom and Assistant Secretary Tichenor today gave a hearing to persons interested in the question of the dutiable character of Canadian built cars used in the transportation of merchandise between Canadian and United States points. Several persons were present representing American roads and American capital. Each spoke in opposition to the proposed imposition of duty on the cars in question. In January last Secretary Fairchild affirmed the decision of a collector of customs in assessing a duty at the rate of 35 per cent ad valorem on several Canadian built cars, imported for use in transporting merchandise between Chicago and New York. This action was suspended the next day, and the case is now pending before the department.

Gen. Spalding admitted that there is no specific law authorizing the free entry of foreign built cars, but the practice has been sanctioned by the Treasury Department for nearly a quarter of a century, and never before questioned. He suggested the question be left to Congress for settlement. No one reported as follows:

Though "the circle of seasons" has been seven times completed since we began the work of the Temporary Home for Women and Children, we have nothing new to offer in its untiring and ever hopeful workers, but make our most earnest appeal to those who know little of us except through these yearly statements of facts.

The young girl sent to us by her mother for safety from the civil surroundings of her home, the baby needing the care which its sick mother cannot give, is gladly left with us for a small sum by its father, and the poor young girls whom the police matron brings to our refuge where they are helped to resist their many temptations are all strong witnesses of the need of our labors.

Following the fortunes of our inmates we find much to encourage and reward us for our cares and solicitudes. The deserted, the forlorn, the helpless and weak, trembling on the verge of utter ruin, may now be found in good homes earning their own self-respect and that of those around them, showing how much a helping hand can do when stretched out at the right moment. Children have gone from us to be adopted or received into good homes with their mothers, where a right direction is given to lives that otherwise might become pests in the community. The little waif who last year was piteously left to perish with cold or find his home in a workhouse, has been taken from our nursery into the hearts and home of a family where it would have been a blessing to have been born.

Thanks to the skill and watchfulness of our kind physicians the health of our various inmates has been good during the year. Five times the angel of love has brought us new objects of care, while the angel of death has not crossed our threshold. We feel this report may be partially retrospective. Beginning in a few small and inconvenient rooms, we struggled on in the hope of a better dwelling and now we have a real home for all to whom no other door opens. Temporary as it must generally be for the inmates, still it has the home element which they need. We believe the family relation to be God-implanted, therefore elevating, and through this belief we never separate mother and child willingly. Drawing its first breath in an atmosphere of purity and comfort, we hope this same atmosphere will prove to be little one an antidote to any inherited depravity. In fact, we find a large proportion of our inmates susceptible to the good home influences around them, and if after they leave us some may fall by the way, let us rejoice in being able to reach and save so many, with an assurance that with all some good seed has been sown that must bear fruit.

The generous gift of the land, added to contributions from different parts of the State, enabled us to build our present house, and we had the great satisfaction of entering it free of debt. Under care of our devoted matron and her equally devoted assistants, its bedrooms, nurseries, living-room and other apartments necessary for such an institution as ours are made to serve the highest purposes of our work. Our resources for the support of the Home are from annual subscriptions and the sum allowed us by the State which are inadequate to the amount of good we wish to and could accomplish. We earnestly appeal to the mother-heart of our whole State, as well as all interested and interest in the name of humanity, to give us the material aid we do so much need. Your wills accomplish much, but money is the central force. If it were in our power we would take into our home every reader of this report; then they would realize in its comfort, purity, and quiet restfulness how much this home is needed and how much has been done with the funds given us. We urge everybody near and distant to see for themselves the result of our work, feeling sure they will then be convinced we ought to be lifted above the poverty with which we are now contending.

Our sincere thanks are tendered to the many friends who have in various ways remembered us, with the hope that all who possibly can will double their gifts the coming year.

Miss Maria D. Gould, treasurer, announces the receipts for the year as $2037.06, and $495.15 was on deposit May 9th, 1888. The expenses for the year were $2052.34, thus reducing the withdrawal of $14.38 from the bank account, leaving a balance on deposit of $480.77. More money is needed by the society, in annual subscriptions, to accomplish the ends of the society, and this is especially the case in other cities and towns in the State.

A Narrow Escape.

Miss Gertrude, daughter of Mr. George Furlong of Deering, had a narrow escape from a serious accident on Congress street yesterday forenoon. She was riding horseback at a rapid pace when the horse stumbled, throwing her over his head. She was picked up and carried into Murphy's drug store where restoratives were applied and everything done for her comfort. She was badly bruised about the head. She was taken to her home in Deering.

TWO TOWNS BURNED BY FOREST FIRES.

Flames Sweeping Through the Woods Attack Michigan Villages.

Over Three Hundred Families Left Homeless and Destitute.

Sleepless Nights Among the Mountaineers in New York.

SULLIVAN, Mich., May 8.—Forest fires ignited this town yesterday noon and burned the larger portion. The loss is about $30,000, with a third of that sum in insurance. Twenty-five families were rendered homeless and destitute.

ISHPENNING, Mich., May 9.—Yesterday afternoon the town of Spaulding, 500 inhabitants, was nearly destroyed by fire. Three hundred people are homeless. No lives were lost. Rain last night quenched the fires.

MANY SLEEPLESS NIGHTS

Caused by Forest Fires in the Mountains of New York.

NEWBURG, N. Y., May 8.—Forest fires are burning on the Shawangunk mountains on the Catskills and Highlands, below this city, as well as on the Fishkill mountains. Passengers coming in on the New York & New England road say fires are burning on the mountains in that vicinity and on the State line. A large amount of woodlands have been seriously damaged. Fires are reported on the increase in all directions. As yet no lives are reported lost. The dry, hot air causes great fears to be entertained by those living in the vicinity of the fires. These are trying times for mountaineers and their families. They pass many sleepless nights.

THE TEMPORARY HOME.

Annual Reports and Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Temporary Home for Women and Children was held yesterday afternoon. A number of visitors went out in the Bradley's Corner horse cars. All present expressed themselves as more than pleased at the appearance of the home which does great credit to its founders and supporters. The secretary, Miss H. L. Fox,

SIX WERE KILLED AND TWO INJURED.

A Street Car Knocked to Pieces by a Locomotive.

The Driver Saw the Gates Were Up and Drove Ahead.

Two Persons Killed in a Smashup at Cleveland.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., May 8.—A street car containing eight ladies and two gentlemen was crossing the Michigan Central track on West Main street this evening when a switch engine dashed down upon it at a high rate of speed and killed six persons. The car was carried almost to Academy street, pieces flying in all directions. Its human freight was mangled in a frightful manner. The killed are:

Mrs. Alexander Haddock,
Mrs. M. E. Watles,
Miss Gertrude Tillotson,
Mrs. George Smiley,
Mrs. Middle,
Mrs. Van Antwerp.

Mrs. Gibson was injured on the head and side, and Mrs. Barnes was bruised badly. The male passengers were unhurt. The driver of the car escaped by jumping. The gates at the crossing where the accident occurred are not used between 5.30 and 6.58 p. m., the gate keeper going home at that time. This custom probably deceived the driver, who was a new man, and probably supposed the gates would be down if an engine was coming.

CRASH ON THE RAIL.

Two Men Killed in a Collision at Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 8.—A north-bound passenger train on the Valley Railroad, due here at 2.30 this afternoon, entered the city limits on time running along at the rate of 30 miles an hour when the smoker left the track and collided with a car loaded with coal on a side track. Of 14 passengers in the smoker, two were instantly killed and four painfully injured. Half a dozen others were bruised and cut, not seriously. The front end of the smoker was demolished. It is said the smoker was an old one and much out of repair. The killed are D. Robert, of Akron, aged 22, son of a wealthy coal operator and George J. Kempf, of No. 24 Erin avenue, Cleveland, a travelling salesman, 26 years old.

THE PRESS.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 9.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or preserve communications that are not used.

It has rained frogs in Dakota. Statehood does wonders for an enterprising Territory.

Municipal elections in Indiana are generally favorable to the Republicans. Neighbor Benjamin's administration is evidently as satisfactory to the people at home as it is to everyone else.

A correspondent of the Argus says that Irishmen and the Roman Catholic church are synonymous terms in the United States. That may be true at the present day. It was far from true in the colonial period. The Catholics of Lord Baltimore's colony were all English, not an Irishman among them.

The Tolstoi who is dead in St. Petersburg is not the Tolstoi in whom intelligent men and women of all Christendom are interested, but a Russian statesman who believes in Siberia as the best remedy for social discontent. If all accounts of him are true he may long for Siberia himself before many days.

The investigation into the operations of the Grand Trunk in this country is not supplying the capital which the opponents of that company hoped for. Mr. Fink, who is pretty good authority, says the competition of that road with our trunk lines is not unfair or unjust to our railroads. It looks as if the raid on the Grand Trunk would come to naught, as it ought to.

The Civil Service Reform Association will not be able to find much fault with President Harrison's selections for civil service commissioners. Mr. Thompson was appointed by President Cleveland near the close of his term, but the Senate did not confirm him. As his nomination was generally applauded at that time by the Civil Service Association its renewal will probably not be criticised. Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, the other appointee, is a well known Republican who has been identified with civil service reform for many years, and his selection leaves no room for criticism.

The people of Louisiana are again at their once favorite occupation of keeping the negroes away from the polls by force of arms. Does it never occur to the dominant race in Louisiana and Mississippi that instead of devoting their energies to shot-gun crusades they should be straining every nerve to educate their negro neighbors and fit them for the duties of citizenship? In Mississippi there were in 1870 an excess of 60,511 negroes over whites, and 171,826 in 1880; and if the two races have increased at the same rate, Mississippi will have by next year's census, a negro majority of 356,921, in a total population of 1,563,155. Louisiana has not, probably, so large an excess of negroes; but yet the latter are in a majority. At this rate of increase the time will come when ever so mild a race as the negro may not submit to be overriden by a minority. Then there will be trouble. But if, by liberal expenditures of their own money, and by reasonable encouragement of the philanthropic societies of the North that are ready to help the negro, the white people of the South will qualify the negro for citizenship, instead of ruthlessly disqualifying, a very troublesome crisis may be averted. The solution of the great question must be performed principally by the people of the South, and upon them will fall the great burden of trouble if arbitrary and unjust methods produce a crisis.

The decision lately rendered by the English court that Lady Sandhurst cannot take the seat in the County Council to which she was elected in the Brixton division of London, does not end all the perplexities of the event which the London Times describes as "the lawless irruption of the other sex into the London County Council." The English Parliament having lately adopted a new local government law, the woman suffragists assumed that it allowed the election of women to the County Councils; especially as it allowed women to vote for those officers. Lady Sandhurst became a candidate in the Brixton Division; Miss Cobden for Bow and Bromley; and Miss Cons became a candidate for alderman. All the ladies were elected, but they all are denied the seats by a decision of the court that they had no legal right to become candidates. The Times says of their situation: "We do not suppose that anybody will be malicious enough to proceed against these ladies for the penalties which they have incurred. But the trouble does not end with their withdrawal from the County Council. It will probably become a question whether and how far the election of aldermen, in which Lady Sandhurst and Miss Cobden took part, is not rendered invalid." The "lawless irruption" of the women has not only required the authority of the courts for its suppression, but has thrown the honorable Council of London and English conservatism into no little of a stew. The fact that the women candidates were able to beat their opponents in the election does not tend to quiet the flurry occasioned by their "lawless irruption."

Dr. Armitage's History of the Baptists sheds some additional light upon the clause which crept into the laws of Rhode Island excepting the Roman Catholics from religious freedom. Hildreth, in the quotation from his history, published yesterday, said the date of this exclusion was not known, but he was convinced it was subsequent to the Revolution of 1688. It appears that in 1745 there was printed a revision or compilation of all the laws of the colony since its first charter, which was called the "Revision of 1745." This revision made reference to a law said to have been passed in 1663-'64, to the effect that "All men professing Christianity, and of competent estates and civil conversation (Roman Catholics only excepted), shall be admitted freemen, or may choose or be chosen colonial officers." This alleged act is referred to by Chalmers, an English author, in his Political Annals, London, (1780). Judge Samuel Eddy, who was Secretary of State of Rhode Island from 1797 to 1819, carefully investigated all the laws of the colony from the first charter (1643-'44) to 1719, and could find no trace whatever of the act referred to by Chalmers, and contained in the "Revision of 1745," prior to that year. After giving the proof in detail, Judge Eddy says:

Thus you have positive and indisputable evidence that the law excluding Roman Catholics from the privileges of freemen was not passed in 1663-64, but at that time and long after they were entitled to all the privileges of other citizens.

Dr. Armitage thinks it a fair presumption from all the circumstances that the parenthetic anti-Catholic clause was an interpolation. "The ingeneral supposition," he adds, "of the best historians of Rhode Island is, that it was introduced into a mixed and irregular digest of the laws of that colony, which appeared in England, by some timid person, who feared that the English Protestants would complain that Rhode Island gave too much liberty to Catholics, and so that her charter would be revoked, hence he ventured to make the interpolation to save difficulty." As soon as the interpolated clause was discovered the Rhode Island legislature repealed it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

IN THEIR SECOND CHILDHOOD.

[Albany Journal.]

There is a distinct trace of juvenility in the course of the monarchical governments of Europe in refusing to take part officially in the celebration of the French revolution. They cannot forget the thrill which Europe felt at the establishment of a great republic within her territory. Never since that time has any wearer of a crown felt entirely secure. The attempt to ignore the occasion if very suggestive of the offended small boy who "won't play."

Four Kansas cities have just elected city governments of women, including Oskaloosa where the ladies who had already served two years have been re-elected by a large majority. The others are Baldwin City, Cottonwood Falls and Rossville. The harp which was once owned by Thomas Moore, the poet, and which is now the property of George W. It will there be on exhibition during the sessions of the Scotch-Irish congress, which began on May 8 and continues several days. Mr. Childs sends the harp at the personal request of Governor Taylor of Tennessee.

Chauncey M. Depew told this little story at the dinner of the New York lawyers the other day. As ex-President Hayes and I were coming up Wall street in the crowd, a man rose up before me with the most muscular arms I ever saw, and protecting in those arms the most beautiful girl I ever saw As Hayes and I tried to push our way along this fellow said: "There is no room for the 400 here." What do you mean?" I said, "Do you know who this gentleman is? He is an ex-President; an ex-President of the United States." "I don't care if he is ex-President of heaven," the fellow replied. "he shan't squeeze my girl."

HOME AND MOTHER.

BY GEORGE BANCROFT GRIFFITH.

A soldier of the French Zouaves sick at Geneva, lay,
And wasted, thinking oft of home and loved ones far away;
His native hamlet often rose before his weary eyes,
That dear old spot in Brittany, beneath the smiling skies.
He thought of father bent with years, of mother, old and gray,
The little sister, bright-eyed lass, with whom he loved to play,
And turning to a comrade near, his mate through long campaign,
He whispered—"Would that I could see my father once again."

The grizzly surgeon, kind of heart, had heard the weary sigh,
And thought, as fell the soldier's wish, "The winsome boy may die,
I'll write a letter to his kin, perchance his father's face
May seem like ray of heavenly light within this gloomy place;
May fill his closing hours with peace, and when the sire departs
The message he may homeward bear will soothe the aching hearts."

Straightway with moistened eyes he wrote; the simple act was done,
And soon the good old patriot was hastening to his son.
The evening's shadows on the walls of that rude chamber lay dark,
When suddenly with eager voice the sick boy murmured "Hark!"
His strained ear heard familiar steps—"Courage my lad!"—"Who spoke?"
The cheery accents sounded sweet, and comrades round him woke.
"Twas him, the peasant roughly clad, from far off Brittany,
Who by the cot with sacred joy now beat his aged knee.

"My precious boy, so brave and fair, ah, no! you must not die!
Your cheek shall bloom, for what you need I've money here to buy."
But earnestly the soldier spoke,—"No dainty things I miss,
I'm broken with a fell disease and long for mother's kiss;
Yet dearly am I blessed indeed to see your face again;
Your smile, the pressure of your hand, does almost banish pain."

A shadow fell athwart the brow so seamed by toil and care,
And silently to heaven's throne was winged a father's prayer:
"O God! my weary, wasted boy! Thy servant far has come,
And is it only in his grief to take his dead one home?"
But lest the pale and haggard face that looked into his own
Might guess his thoughts, all secretly he made his wishes known;
"For mother's sake, he tried and true, O spare him, God above,
Her pure, white heart is desolate, she hungers for his love."

Then, all at once,—as leaning o'er his dusty knapsack there
He touched with trembling hand a loaf,—came answer to his prayer,
For by an impulse spirit born that common bread of rye
He raised, and heard an angel say,—"The soldier will not die."
"Here, here, my son, take this," he said, "'twas made by mother's hand,
How oft you've tasted food like this in our dear native land."

The sick lad turned his heavy eyes, they flashed with sudden joy.
Once more in brighter mood he spoke, the self-same happy boy
As when in peasant garb he watched the eag'e's flight or skipped
Along the wave-washed shore, alert, bright-eyed and rosy-lipped!
With thin palm stretched out greedily, "Give it to me," he cried;
"I'm hungry, father, sit you down my pallet now beside."

As in the olden days, his eyes lit up with childish glee,
He saw the low, plain walls of home, he heard the murm'ring sea.
The blood came back a crimson tide to neck and face and brow:
"So good! so good! the bread from home—I'm better even now!"
And large tears rolled adown his cheeks—the surgeon standing nigh,
The witness of a hundred fights, had scarce less moistened eye.
As with a quiver in his voice—"Ah, hearty, you're all right,"
He softly added, "Eat your fill, and sweetly sleep tonight."

* * * * * * *

A new moon shone Geneva o'er, but far on silve wave
The peasant sailed with sou beloved, the French Zouave so brave.
"I'm getting stronger every day"—as oft would he repeat;
When I get there our good black bread I'll always love to eat.
Made by my mother—bless the hand that shaped the loaf of rye
To save a homesick fellow's life—Geneva fair, good-bye!"

$20,000

Wakefield, Mass., Water Co.

CONSOLIDATED MORTGAGE 5s.

Due February 1, 1906, optional February 1, 1896

The Wakefield Water Company is a corporation chartered under the laws of Massachusetts and furnishes water for fire protection and domestic purposes to the towns and inhabitants of Wakefield and Stoneham, in Middlesex county, Mass. These are two suburban towns, about ten miles from Boston, on the Western division of the Boston & Maine railroad, and have together a population of 12,000 to 14,000.

The capital stock of the Wakefield Water Company authorized is $300,000, and the amount issued December 1, 1888, $60,000, fully paid up. These $20,000 bonds are a part of a consolidated issue of $300,000 5 per cent bonds, of which $200,000 are held by the trustee under the terms of the trust deed and can only be used to redeem $200,000 6 per cent bonds which were then outstanding and are optional in 1892, making the bonded indebtedness of the company, secured by mortgage upon the plant, the sum of $300,000.

In addition to the mortgage bonds mentioned, there have been $100,000 Debenture bonds issued, which, of course, are subject to the mortgage bonds, the proceeds of which have been expended on the works, thus adding to the value of the plant.

The water is taken from Crystal Lake, which is an ample supply for the demands upon the company, and the water is pure and suitable for domestic purposes. The only other available water supply that immediate vicinity is controlled by the Water Company.

The pump house is of brick and of good size; the machinery is of standard make. There are two pumps and two boilers, each of sufficient capacity to supply the works alone, so in case an accident happens to one of them there will be no interference with the water supply. The water is pumped directly into the mains, and through them to an iron stand pipe 40 feet in diameter and 60 feet in height, which gives a good reserve supply.

There are 47 miles of main of 12 inches in diameter and less, there being a large amount of 12-inch main and only a small amount of less diameter than 4 inches. The normal pressure varies according to location from 50 to 80 pounds from the stand pipe pressure.

The Company has been operating its works for five years and has met with success from its commencement.

There are 135 hydrants, and the rental from these from the two towns amounts to $6,740. There are about 1,500 tags, and the revenue from private consumption was, in December, 1888, at the rate of $22,060 per annum, making a total revenue per annum of $28,800. Therefore the financial condition is as follows:

Gross earnings		$28,800
Expenses	$5,000
Interest charges on mortgage bonds	17,000
		22,000
		$6,800

The Company this Spring will extend its pipe line about 7½ miles which will largely increase its revenue.

After a careful personal examination of the works, we purchased the within described bonds and can recommend this security as being in our judgment particularly safe for Trust Funds.

Colorado Water Supply Co.,
FIRST MORTGAGE,
Seven Per Cent. Bonds,
DUE 1899.

Some $225,000 of these bonds have been taken for investment, in Maine, New Hampshire, New York and Europe, by Savings and Trust Institutions and other careful investors.

This company owns and controls some 80 miles of constructed and natural water courses, costing $450,000. It has prior rights to all the waters of the Dolores River (the only source of supply in that section) for purposes of irrigating lands, thereby insuring successful crops always; for supplying cities and towns along its line with water for domestic uses, for fire protection, and for manufacturing purposes. It is doubtful if a more comprehensive or valuable charter is owned by any similar company in the West.

The company has cash in Treasury, and is backed by strong capitalists in this city and elsewhere.

We offer the above $30,000 bonds at 103 and interest.

Fairfield.

Arbor Day will be too late for the setting of shade trees in this section. Evidently the Governor was not made aware of the early coming of spring when he decided on the 15th as the day for planting trees by the road side. By that time the trees will be full of blossoms and vegetation well advanced.

At the special town meeting held Monday the town instructed the selectmen to hire a sum sufficient to cover the indebtedness to February 20th on school accounts.

Some of our lumbermen have been very fortunate in getting their logs into the limits of the driving corporation. Already rafts of new logs are to be seen in the pond and a full crew is busily engaged at the boom house sorting and rafting those to be held and man ufactured here.

The Universalist Society is now looking for a minister.

A few of our business men attended the banquet tendered Mr. W. P. Rice in Boston yesterday. That Mr. Rice is an able and very successful business man there is no doubt, but his success has been gained by hard work among New England capitalists in diverting capital from the East to the West. While one admires his energy there must come a wish that instead of booming Kansas and Texas, he had aided in building up Maine and Massachusetts. As the immediate result of his efforts millions have gone into Western and Southern securities with what results time only can tell.

Fairfield is moving to secure the organization of a branch of the society with a long name.

Fairfield trotting park has been put in fine condition and a number of trotters are being worked there daily. The large three-year old Longway, winner of the yearling race in '87, a colt standing 16 hands and weighing 1100, lately trotted a quarter in 44 seconds. He was by Broadway, one of the best stallions ever owned in Somerset county. Among the youngsters are several flyers which threaten to take the honors of the colt stakes to Fairfield next September.

AN OLD BEAR HUNTER'S EXPLOIT.

Peas and grain are coming up, and looking finely. Farmers are busy planting. Mr. I. L. French has sweet corn two inches high.

Mr. Charles Holmes and wife have returned to Boston for the summer.

H. D. French is at home for a short visit, from Jackson, N. H.

F. P. French and John Rice, painters, have gone to Freedom, N. H., to work.

Our summer term of school commenced last Monday, with Nellie G. Redlon as teacher. Miss Redlon is a fine teacher, having taught two terms here before, and giving perfect satisfaction.

Among the recreations of the first settlers of this town hunting was a favorite pastime Owing to his fondness for the settlers' flock the bear was selected as the best subject for their skill. One anecdote I will relate. Meshach Libby, being out in the woods, came upon one in an oak tree making his dinner on the acorns, while a deer was at the foot of the tree helping itself to the fallen ones. Mr. Libby looked kindly on the game under the tree, but to the destroyer of his flocks no mercy was due. So he fired at the bear, and down tumbled bruin, not dead as was expected, but unharmed and undaunted either by the noise of the gunpowder or the presence of man. Mr. Libby at once sought a large tree near by, hoping that its branches might afford some means of escape. But which I perform this part is an original creation, sir—an original creation.—Detroit Free Press.

You may sing of the beauty of springtime
That glows on the cheek of the young,
But I sing of a beauty that's rarer
Than any of which you have sung.
The beauty that's seen in the faces
Of women whose summer is o'er,
The autumn-like beauty that charms us
Far more than the beauty of yore.

But this beauty is seen too rarely. The faces of most women lose the beauty of youth too soon. Female disorders are like frosts, which come to nip the flowers which betoken good health, without which there can be no real beauty. If our American women would fortify themselves against the approach of the terrible disorders so prevalent among them, by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, their good looks would be retained to a "sweet old age." This remedy is a guaranteed cure for all the distressing weaknesses and derangements peculiar to women.

Agony is Courted

By persons who attacked by a mild form of rheumatism, neglect to seek prompt relief. Subsequent torture is prevented by an immediate resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Slight exposure, an occasional draught, will beget this painful malady, where there is a predisposition to it in the blood. It is not difficult to arrest the trouble at the outset, but well nigh impossible to eradicate it when matured. No evidence in relation to this superb blood depurent is more positive than that which establishes its efficacy as a preventive and remedy for rheumatism. Not only is it thorough, but safe, which the vegetable and mineral poisons, often taken as curatives of the disease, are not. Besides expelling the rheumatic virus from the system, it overcomes fever and ague, biliousness, constipation and dyspepsia.

CURED OF MALARIA.

George Dixon, 22 Florida St., Elizabeth, N. J., writes:

"I have been using ALLOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS, for the last five years. Some two years ago, after having been sick for upwards of six months with malaria, I found myself with an enlarged spleen, dyspeptic, and constantly troubled with a headache, and my kidneys did not act very well either. Having spent most of my money for medicine and medical advice, I thought to save expense I would use ALLOCK'S POROUS PLASTER, two on the small of my back, one on the spleen or ague cake, and one on the pit of my stomach, just under the breast bone. I continued using the Plasters about thirty days, changing them every week. At the end of that time I was perfectly well, and have remained so ever since."

REVIEW OF PORTLAND WHOLESALE MARKET

FOR THE WEEK ENDING May 8.

The business situation has not developed any particularly new features the past week. Nearly all of the leading staples have ruled firm and a very satisfactory trade is reported. Flour is moving fairly well in small lots and a firmer tone prevails, especially for Winter Wheats. The Western markets to-day for Flour closed firmer with an improved demand; an advance will be noticed in our telegraph markets on Wheat, Corn and Oats; here prices are firm without quotable change in values. Sugar is quiet and steady at 9c for granulated and 8¼c for Extra C. In Provisions, Pork is firm, but unchanged, with Lard ⅛ to ¼c better at the West. Fresh Beef is quite active with an upward tendency; some grades have advanced; sides at 6¼@7½c ℔ lb, hind quarters at 9@10c, fore qtrs 4½@5½c, rounds with flanks at 7c, rumps 11@12c, loins 12@16c, rump loins 11@13c, chucks 6@5½c, sides 7@8c, backs 6@7c, rattles 4c; mutton is quoted at 9c and lambs 10@11c. Fresh fish in fair supply; halibut in good re.eipt and easy. Trading in dry fish is lifeless: Pollock entirely out of the market; Cod has dropped 25c on both large and small. Coffee advancing and ½c higher for Rio; Java unchanged and firm. Molasses strong and higher for Porto Rico, jobbing at 55@57c. Teas quiet. Turpentine is firmer under last week's figures and selling at 44@51c. Linseed and Boiled Oil 1c up. In Drugs, etc., business is good; prices steady and unchanged. Hay continues strong at $19. In Produce, Cheese firmer with Liverpool higher. Eggs are a trifle better.

Constitutional Catarrh.

No single disease has entailed more suffering or hastened the breaking up of the constitution than Catarrh. The sense of smell, of taste, of sight, of hearing, the human voice, the mind,—one or more, and sometimes all, yield to its destructive influence. The poison it distributes throughout the system attacks every vital force, and breaks up the most robust of constitutions. Ignored, because but little understood, by most physicians, impotently assailed by quacks and charlatans, those suffering from it have little hope of being relieved of it this side of the grave. It is time, then, that the popular treatment of this terrible disease should come within the reach of all passed into hands at once competent and trustworthy. The new and hitherto untried method adopted by Dr. Sanford in the preparation of his RADICAL CURE has won the hearty approval of thousands. It is instantaneous in affording relief in all head colds, sneezing, snuffing and obstructed breathing, and rapidly removes the most oppressive symptoms, clearing the head, sweetening the breath, restoring the senses of smell, taste and hearing, and neutralizing the constitutional tendency of the disease towards the lungs, liver and kidneys.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT, and IMPROVED INHALER; price, $1.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Rheumatism,

BEING due to the presence of uric acid in the blood, is most effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's and no other, and take it till the poisonous acid is thoroughly expelled from the system. We challenge attention to this testimony:—

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gout, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE STOCKBRIDGE COMPLIMENTARY.

Mr. Stockbridge should have been pleased, and Portland should feel proud, of the concert complimentary to him, given by the musical societies of this city, at City hall, last evening. It is not probable there is a city of much larger population than this that could, from its own home talent, have given such an enjoyable entertainment. From the opening number by Collins's First Regiment Band, to the last selection by the Mandolin and Guitar Club, everything went off with plenty of snap, and the great audience retained their seats to the close, frequently encoring the performers and having their desires gratified.

Collins's band, well as they have pleased all the season, really surpassed themselves on this occasion, and the march by Walter Goold was quite effective; the Philharmonic Orchestra, Mr. H. E. Duncan, conductor, played a caprice and mazurka with much finish and expression; Grimmer's Orchestra played beautifully; and the Mandolin and Guitar Club delighted as they always do. The vocalists were equally happy. The Weber Club's voices, under Mr. Kotzschmar's baton, blended beautifully and shaded their music with great expression; the trio of ladies from the Rossini Club sang Marchetti's "Ave Maria" so well the audience demanded a repetition, and the same may be said of the Schubert Quartette, while the Portland Male Quartette convulsed the house with the sad tale of the "Little Peach."

The only foreign element in the programme was furnished by Miss Jessie Conthoul, the popular elocutionist, and with "Deacon Brown's Confession," and a good medley made of Poe's "Raven", Hood's "Bridge of Sighs," Habberton's "Helen's Babies," and other cuttings, the audience had to be satisfied.

Mr. Stockbridge may well feel that his fellow citizens think highly of him from the way in which they turned out to his benefit.

ON THE TRAIL.

This intensely realistic and ever popular border drama was admirably presented at the theatre last evening—much too well for the upper portion of the audience which made itself disagreeably audible at times.

The plot deals with the fortunes of the noted pioneer, Daniel Boone, portrayed by Mr. John O'Brien, who is admirably adapted to the part, and whose acting of it deserves high praise, and introduces many exciting and novel scenes. The reconstruction of the play has changed it materially for the better, and in the cast a considerable change has been made in the right direction. One of the features was the pappoose, Little Walter, whose extremely innocent antics provoked great merriment. A band of "real" Shawnee Indians, and the horses, mustangs, donkey and bear, all tend to make this one of the most thrilling melo-dramas on the road.

From beginning to end the play was uproariously applauded, notably the scene wherein Col. Boone's famous horse, Custer, looses him from the stake to which the Indians had tied him, and the great bowie-knife contest between Boone and the chief of the Cherokees.

The company brings its own orchestra.

MRS. LANGTRY.

Tomorrow evening Mrs. Langtry will make her debut in Portland as Lena Despard in "As in a Looking Glass" at Portland Theatre. The public generally have read and heard about the Jersey Lily so much that she will come to them by no means a stranger. Besides her repute for beauty, and for elegant costumes, the New York Telegram thus speaks of her Pauline, in which she will appear Saturday evening:

"Mrs. Langtry's impersonation of Pauline in "The Lady of Lyons," is generally regarded as her most successful effort. Her acting in this role has been received with great favor by New Yorkers. The Fifth Avenue Theatre has been filled every night since the play was produced. It has been decided to continue the representation of "The Lady of Lyons" throughout Mrs. Langtry's engagement."

Good seats may still be obtained at the box office.

NOTES.

Miss Annie Belle Hinckley of the Maritana Opera Company (which includes Miss Bates, Messrs. Fessenden, Brine and Cornell) has just returned to Boston from a successful trip to Maine and St. John, N. B. Miss Hinckley's fine voice was much admired, and she shared in the success so gratifying to all the artists. The operas of "Sonnambula," "Daughter of the Regiment" and "Maritana" were given in St. John, N. B.

Mystic Lodge.

Mystic Lodge, I. O. G. T., will celebrate its 24th anniversary at Mystic Hall, Monument Square, tonight. THINGS TO BENEFIT PORTLAND.

What the Railroads are Doing and Preparing to Do.

The Maine Central Will Lend a Hand in Booming Our City.

There are signs that lead one to believe that there is for Portland a future far brighter and far more prosperous than many of her most sanguine sons and daughters of the past ever dreamed of, or if, perchance, they contemplated it, it was to them altogether visionary. Today, taking everything into consideration, one may prophesy for Portland with a reasonable degree of accuracy a very material advancement in the next 10 years, a far longer forward stride than has been made in any one decade of its existence. That such a prophesy may prove true is, of course, much to be desired, if its fulfillment cannot be reasonably expected. The railroads that have found their way into this city will do more for its advancement than ever before. The Grand Trunk has just begun to do what would have been for its own as well as for the interest of the city had it been done years ago, namely, advertising Portland, the eastern terminus of the great Grand Trunk system as a summer resort. This is one thing that will bear fruit in the next 10 years. Then by connecting and combining with other roads the Maine Central will, now that it has possession of the Portland & Ogdensburg, make this city far more accessible from the West than it has heretofore been. The railroads interested are preparing to advertise Portland; thus it will be brought into greater prominence which is, of course, advantageous. Beginning July 1st, when the summer time table goes into effect on the Maine Central, trains will be run on and in connection with the Maine Central to greatly benefit the city. Beginning then a train will leave Chicago every night at 10.10 o'clock with an elegant Wagner sleeping car attached, for this city. Suppose a train leaves Chicago for this city Monday night at 10.10 o'clock, then according to the time table, it will arrive in this city at 8.10 p. m., the following Wednesday. It will leave Chicago on the Michigan Central and will stop at Niagara Falls to afford the passengers ample time to view the scenery. Then it will proceed by way of the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg road, the Central Vermont, the St. Johnsbury and Lake Champlain, and then by way of Fabyans over the Mountain Division of the Maine Central road to this city. No arbitrary charge by the railroads will be made for meals while en route, but passengers will be allowed to get their meals where it pleases them.

These through trains will be thoroughly and attractively advertised throughout the West by the Michigan Central and other roads interested. The Maine Central Railroad, having possession of the Portland & Ogdensburg, will not allow any opportunity to go by that may be improved for the benefit of this city. The Canadian Pacific have converted their parlor cars that were run last summer between Portland and Montreal, into regular passenger coaches, and will replace them by two entirely new cars of modern elegance. Beginning July 1st night trains supplied with sleeping cars will run between this city and Montreal over the Maine Central. During the height of the season one train will be run from Toronto and another from Montreal through to this city and thence to Old Orchard without change. These through trains between this city and Montreal, Toronto and Chicago will greatly benefit Portland. By the time these trains get to running the Maine Central general offices and all its surroundings, as well as those of the elegant Union station will be in first-class order. A large force of workmen are now employed on the grounds in front of the station. A fountain has been located on either side of the main entrance to the depot and elegant lawns will surround each of the fountains. The surroundings of the general offices are being made attractive. A yard on the south side has already been enclosed with a high fence, and the space in front of the other side of the building will be made very beautiful. Visitors to Portland next summer will certainly be delighted by their first view of the city if they come here by way of the roads leading into the Union station.

The Maine Central has been improving the property all along the line of the Portland & Ogdensburg, and they will make this branch correspond with the other parts of the road in general excellence. Sebago Lake will be brought into greater prominence this summer than ever before by means of excursions to that place. In short, the Maine Central intends to boom things the coming season.

Beginning Sunday, May 19th, the Sunday train service between Bangor and Bar Harbor, will be resumed, trains connecting at Bangor with trains to and from Boston.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE MEETING.

Resolutions on the Death of Mr. Tash.

At a meeting of the school board yesterday morning, Mayor Melcher presiding, Messrs. Dunn, Ring and McGowan were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of Mr. Tash. The committee prepared the following, as an expression of the feeling of the board:

The death of our secretary and superintendent of schools, Mr. Thomas Tash, calls upon us for an expression of our feelings of sorrow. For twelve years he had served the city in a most important position, doing faithful and efficient service; and by good care and painstaking had done much to elevate the character and increase the value of our school system.

Modest, unassuming and patient, he made a lasting impression for good and his loss will be keenly felt. To the members of the school board he was ever gentlemanly and consistent; to the teachers friendly and kind; and of the pupils and parents a watchful and wise counsellor and adviser.

To the bereaved family we would extend our hearty and sincere sympathy in this hour of their great personal loss.

As an expression of our feeling in this time of sorrow we do hereby order these minutes to be spread upon the records of the school board; a copy sent to the family, and we request the publication of the same in each of our daily papers.

A. T. DUNN, C. A. RING, P. MCGOWAN, } Committee.

It was voted that there be no sessions of the city schools today.

It was voted that the board attend the funeral of Mr. Tash in a body and that all the teachers in the public schools be requested to do the same.

There will be prayers at Mr. Tash's late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The funeral will take place at State street church at 2.30 o'clock.

PERSONAL.

There is a daughter of a Revolutionary soldier now living in Jonesboro, Mrs. Mary Flaherty, now passed 90 years. Her father was a commissioned officer on Washington's staff for several years.

On Easter Day at Christ Church in Ottawa, Canada, there was placed in a window in the south aisle, a memorial to the late Emily Bourinot, presented by her husband, representing Mary at the Savior's feet. Mrs. Bourinot was the oldest daughter of the late Hon. Albert Pilsbury of Machias, and her mother, Mrs. Abby C. Pilsbury is now living in Belfast, Me.

Mr. W. P. Rice of Kansas City, Mo., a son of Maine, was banqueted Tuesday evening at the Revere House in Boston. As a pioneer in the West, Mr. Rice has led the the van in the founding of the new city of Denison, The honors to Mr. Rice were bestowed by capitalists associated with him in his latest venture. The reception committee comprised the following gentlemen: C. H. Bartlett of New Hamshire, Orville D. Baker of Maine, Fred E. Smith of Vermont, Francillo G. Jillson of Rhode Island and Henry B. Pierce of Massachusetts. Judge Hall of Waterville in behalf of the company gave Mr. Rice a beautiful jewel case, which contained a diamond stud, a gold watch chain and diamond studded cuff bottons.

Narrow Escape from a Serious Accident.

Last evening as two gentlemen were driving from the city over the road to Woodfords, the horse suddenly started, and in trying to stop him the bit broke and the horse started on the run, and things looked quite serious for a little while, but just opposite J. S. Ricker's residence they overtook Mr. Chas. E. Phenix, who was driving out with a three-year old colt on one of these two-wheeled road carts. Mr. Phenix, with great presence of mind, started his colt into a run, and at the same time swung himself around on his seat so as to have free use of his right hand, and meanwhile handled his own animal with his left hand; and when a serious accident seemed unavoidable he seized the frightened animal by the nostrils and stopped the team.

LAUNCHING OF THE WINSLOW.

The Handsome Four Masted Schooner Towed to This City.

The fine four-masted schooner J. S. Winslow, owned by J. S. Winslow & Co., of this city, was launched at Bath yesterday at 7 a. m., in the presence of quite a large assembly. The vessel was built by William Rogers, and the launching was a very successful one. The schooner glided very easily into the water and there was not the slightest mishap. Cheers and the shriek of steam whistles made the welkin ring as the handsome craft rested safely on the bosom of the water. The tow boat L. A. Belknap then made fast to her and immediately started for this city where she arrived at about 3 p. m. The J. S. Winslow is a very staunch and in every way a first class vessel. Her frame is of native oak, cut largely in her builder's woods in Bowdoinham, with ceiling and plank of heavy yellow pine. She is provided with a powerful hoisting engine, which also drives the captain and windlass, and will spread about 3800 yards of canvas. She has a tonnage of 865, is 182 feet long, 37 feet wide and 18 feet deep. Her machinery was made by T. W. Hyde of Bath. Her cabin is a spacious and handsome one, finished in oak, cherry and ask. It is entered by a forward and also by an after companion way. The mates' rooms and the pantry open out of the forward cabin. The captain's room opens from the starboard after corner of the after cabin. Opening from this cabin is a spare room, chart room, toilet and bath room, also a pantry and the after companion way. The steward also has a room aft. The cabins of the vessel will be furnished here and a load of lumber taken in for South America. She will be commanded by Capt. L. B. Clark of this city and will carry a crew of about nine men.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Edwin Owen Run Over at Cumberland Mills Yesterday.

Yesterday morning, as Conductor Feeney's train, over the Portland & Rochester road, that leaves Saccarappa at 11 o'clock, reached the Haskell street crossing at Cumberland Mills, a man was seen running for the depot by the engineer, Mr. Hanscomb. Mr. Hanscomb blew the whistle and reversed the engine, but without avail, for the engine struck the man, throwing him some seventy-five feet into the ditch alongside of the track. The train hands took the man to Mr. Hall's house, and Drs. G. W. Brown, Horr and Burroughs held a consultation. He had received such serious injuries however, that he died at 2.40 p. m. The man's name was Edwin Owen, and he was a native of Prince Edward Island. He was 58 years old, married, and resided in Worcester, where he leaves a wife, Mary Owen. He came from Boston Tuesday night, and had been to Cumberland Mills to call on Mr. Hall, who was a cousin of his. He was on his way back to the depot to catch the train when the accident occurred. An inquest will be held today noon by Coroner Gould.

The weather today is likely to be fair.

PORTLAND, MAY 9, 1889.

WE don't advertise the goods in the first center counter very much. One reason is because they are sold very low as leaders and sell well enough without advertising, and another reason is that no one article is usually of importance enough to make a special advertisement and occupy our regular half column.

Will make an exception this time, however, and mention several articles including the Sachet Powder put up in nice little bottles, convenient to use what is wanted and have the rest for future use.

It is much better this way and don't cost any more. You get ten cents worth of the best Sachet just the same quality and quantity as if put up in paper. We do this as an advertisement with the object of pleasing our customers.

Soaps in all the leading brands we retail at less price than any wholesale dealer here or elsewhere would charge you by the dozen. Try it and see if we are not right. The "Kaiser Wilhelm" leather dressing for ladies' and children's shoes is a comparatively new article which sells at 13c. It is not as well known as some other brands but many who have tried it recommend it highly. We think the "Kaiser" is a good article or else would not sell it and the price is a little less than any other kind.

The White Tar and Camphor Tablet, which attracts notice by its odor, as people enter the door, is the nicest article made for packing away fine flannels and furs. It is in clean thin sheets and will not soil the most delicate fabric, Twelve sheets for 25c is the price.

This counter is covered with desirable Toilet Articles, nothing of inferior quality, and all sold at prices which show a good margin in our favor if our prices are compared with other dealers.

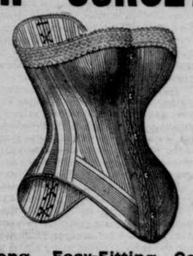
LOOMER'S

ELASTIC CUT-AWAY

HIP CORSET.



Strong, Easy-Fitting, Comfortable and Health Preserving.

The House Patent Molded Shape.

Especially desirable for Ladies of fine contour or of delicate constitution.

The Hip Sections are Cut-Away, thereby removing uncomfortable and injurious pressure.

The French Corded Bands over the Hips prevent wrinkling, and give a graceful figure.

The Elastic Gores render this Corset absolutely perfect fitting, and expand readily to every motion of the body, giving a Health Preserving effect and freedom of motion.

Perfect satisfaction guaranteed or the price paid will be cheerfully refunded.

N. B. Ladies, beware of imitations of this Corset, now on the market, which are not molded and are of inferior shape. Remember that "Loomer's" is the only molded shape hip Corset in the world. See that the name of "LOOMER'S" is in the box, and buy no other, if you desire a perfect fit.
